Theme

Libraries and Librarians:

Making a difference in the Knowledge Age

The International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions

Founded in 1927, the International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions is an independent international non-governmental association that has formal associate relations with UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization).

The International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions (IFLA) has 1,480 members, including 150 associations, 1,070 institutions, and 260 non-voting personal affiliates, representing 140 countries and all types of libraries. The United States plays an active role in IFLA, with seven library associations and 150 institutions participating. The aims of IFLA are to promote international understanding, cooperation, discussion, research and development in all fields of library activity and information science, and to provide a body through which librarianship can be represented in matters of international interest. IFLA's headquarters are in The Hague, Netherlands.

Floor plan, space application and allocation of stand sites

In this folder you will find the preliminary floor plan indicating the available stand sites.

You are kindly requested to study the enclosed floor plan and mark your first three choices both on the application form and the floor plan. Please note that it is possible to make combinations of more than one space, or to divide stands into smaller units, if necessary.

Space assignments will be solely at the discretion of the 67th IFLA Conference, however, in case of conflicting requests preference be afforded those exhibitors with continuing participation in past years and those exhibitors who sponsor the conference.

Stand allocations will be made prior to January 31, 2001; all applications should therefore have been received no later than December 15, 2000. All choices expressed in applications received by December 15, 2000 will be considered, however the organizers reserve the right to allocate exhibitors to the most appropriate stands.

Exhibitors manual

More detailed exhibit information and instructions, including order forms for services and supplies will be included in the Exhibitors manual which will be mailed to exhibitors at the same time as the confirmation of the exhibition space.
